Options sought to relieve traffic congestion

Restricting vehicle size, removing parking stalls on 19th Ave. considered

BY STEPHANIE MYLES
Didsbury Review

Town council is considering options to relieve traffic congestion on 19 Avenue, including restricting vehicle size and removing parking stalls.

The issue was brought to last week's council meeting after the town's planning and protective services committee recommended removing the 13 parallel parking stalls on the north side of the street, between 20 and 21 Streets.

The committee said large trucks angle parking on the street are creating a problem, but councillors couldn't agree on how to solve it.

"I really don't like the idea of getting rid of 13 stalls," said Coun. Brian Wittal. "I'd rather see the restriction."

Wittal was referring to restrictions on the length of vehicles allowed to angle park on the street. Council is considering this option because the Town of Olds has implemented similar rules.

Coun. Stan Neufeld said he thinks people understand they must be careful when driving on 19 Avenue, and restrictions would be difficult to enforce.

"We do need some kind of length restriction. It's just a matter of how long, in my opinion."

"People come and complain about it, but I have no record of accidents," he said. "I think it would be a picky bylaw and we'd have a hard time enforcing it, so all in all I think we should leave it alone."

Coun. Gayle Veno also rejected the idea of restricting longer vehicles like trucks, but for a different reason.

"To me, that tells the county residents we don't want your business, and most people in the county have trucks," she said.

Council voted to send the issue back to the planning and protective services committee to investigate the effectiveness of Olds' parking restrictions.

"Before copying that particular bylaw, we would like to know how it's working for them and what kind of problems they face," said Coun. Ernie Ryckman.

"We do need some kind of length restriction. It's just a matter of how long, in my opinion."

"I think you try to do something before there's an accident, and it could be a serious one. And they say everybody knows about the street, that's fine for the locals but we're getting more and more people here."

Long-term stays still allowed at Rosebud campground

Council reverses decision on weekly, monthly options

BY STEPHANIE MYLES
Didsbury Review

Didsbury will be able to attract long-term campers again this year after council changed its mind and reinstated weekly and monthly rates at the Rosebud Valley Campground.

Council had set daily campground rates only for 2007 and 2008 at its April 3 meeting, eliminating weekly and monthly options.

But regular campers objected to the change, so the issue came before council again last week.

"We apparently have some people that like to come and stay for some extended periods of time and shop and golf in the area," said Mayor Dorothy Moore.

The new campground management is happy with council's change.

"We'll have more people in, I hope, that want to stay longer," said Linda Wittal, who operates the campground with her husband, Adam.

"We've got a couple of people here right now who sold their houses and are looking for another place to live and are living in their campers, and we have some workers coming in."

Some councillors were concerned that weekly and monthly rates would encourage too many long-term campers and leave no room for those passing through Didsbury, so council limited the number of long-term campsites to eight.

"It won't take very long to fill that campground up with seasonal workers," said Coun. Stan Neufeld. "I want that campground open for people driving through."

Wittal said campers who stay for weeks at a time are important because they contribute to Didsbury's economy.

"There's lots of other income besides what the campground gets, so I think it's important to try and have some of those people," she said.

The cost for weekly camping this summer is $120 with power and $95 without. Monthly campers will pay $420 with power and $290 without. These rates are up by about 20 per cent from last year.

Chamber of Commerce celebrates banner year

BY STEPHANIE MYLES
Didsbury Review

The Didsbury & District Chamber of Commerce celebrated a banner year at last week's annual general meeting.

"We've had a financially progressive year," said outgoing president Scott Puttick.

"The trade show we had was second to none this year, having sold out rather quickly, and they even had a wait list."

Margo Ward was elected as new Chamber president, but she's currently out of town so Puttick said he'll stay on as president until Ward returns.

Even then, Puttick said he's committed to volunteering with the Chamber to continue the Local First campaign.

"We had started the Local First campaign, both Margo and I, so I want to continue with that and emphasize the fact that shopping local first definitely improves their community," he said.

The new council includes treasurer Joelle Fournier, secretary Bill Anthony and members Dale Peters, Greg Poirier, Shaun Waite and Leanne Wenckowski.

Puttick said they have their work cut out for them.

"They've got some big shoes to fill, I think because everything has gone so well this year, and it's mostly in part to previous councils," he said. "Every council that comes on improves things a little bit more."

Kathleen Windsor, Chamber spokesperson, said the fact that the Chamber welcomed four new members is a sign the organization is on the right track.

"That also shows that the Chamber is doing something that people want to be part of, and so we're really, really pleased about that," she said.

The Chamber also said farewell to retiring members Ron Boyko, Joanne Braun, Lance Plewis and Tara Windsor.

Both Windsor and Puttick said the Chamber's success is thanks to fiscal responsibility in previous years.

"We've had a couple of years where we've just had to dig in our heels on financial things and I think everybody decided that the sacrifices we've made over the past few years have been of benefit," said Windsor.

The Chamber of Commerce organizes several events in Didsbury each year, including the Rosebud Run sled dog race, Country Christmas and small business week.

A SIGN OF THINGS TO COME - A new Didsbury Chamber of Commerce sign was unveiled outside the train station last August following the chamber's pancake breakfast.

Mountain View County wants you!

During the month of June, Mountain View County will be conducting a census of all residents living within its boundaries.

Why a census?

Every citizen counts- With the number of residents living in the county on the rise, an accurate and up-to-date population count is vital in order to maximize the amount of money for roads and infrastructure that Mountain View County receives from the provincial government.

Statistics are also essential when calculating cost-sharing agreements, indicating trends and growth patterns within the County, and helping County planners make decisions to meet the growing needs of Mountain View County residents.

How can you help?

Paid enumerators are needed to canvas the nearly 5,300 private residences in Mountain View County for the most recent population data.

If you or your organization is interested in helping with the 2007 census, please contact Tony Martens, Manager- Legislative Services, at (403) 335-3311 ext. 114, or by email at tony.martens@mountainviewcounty.com

Your letters Give our kids a chance

In response to Ms. Flack's letter to the editor:

I am one of the parents who is very excited at the prospect of the Kidz Playhouse Daycare moving to the old College Green Medical Centre site. It is with sadness that I read Ms. Flack's letter.

I can understand her concerns of noise, however, given the location of College Green I don't feel those concerns are 100 per cent justified. College Green is situated along the major east-west road through town, by which large, noisy trucks and many cars and emergency vehicles travel on a daily basis. It is also situated close to the train tracks where an average of 28 trains travel and blow their whistles rather loudly every day. I understand that children make noise, but I also know that the children are not outside all day and that they have quiet time from 12:30 to 2:00 p.m., where they will definitely not be outside.

When I read the above letter I felt sad. I felt sad that there is not more support for the young, hard-working families who are just trying to make ends meet. Often the only way to make ends meet is to leave our precious children so we can go to work. I am a registered nurse and my job is caring for the elderly, and I have probably cared for friends or family of those concerned. If I don't have a place to take my children I cannot work and my family would be short an income and the system would be short another nurse. I have been so impressed with Kidz Playhouse and the care they have given my children, and my standards are very high. There are many other young families who need childcare and they will not get it if Kidz Playhouse cannot move.

I would respectfully say to those concerned about the noise that our young families need your support. Please allow our children a place to play, to be safe and to have fun. They learn from those older than them and who better to set a good example of love and respect than those living around College Green? As I said in my letter to the town council, it takes a community to raise a child and now is the time for the community to support the children and those willing to care for them.

Ponderings of the heart Looking back

MARGARET FRADLEY

One of the honourees in May is Mother, a time to make her feel special and appreciated. Of course mothers should be appreciated every day of the year, for the many tasks and love they give out each day. I think of a mother as one who immerses herself in the life of her family, with often little time to think of herself, and is unfortunately often taken for granted.

"Mother" has a special meaning; memories of times gone by, when mother sat with us while we were ill, took us to special events, kept our clothes clean, neat and mended, any many other selfless acts. We all cherish our own thoughts of our mothers. Yes, mother is special and deserves our tribute.

However, I want to give a special tribute to single mothers this year, many who must go out to work to keep their families together. After a hard day's work they come home to begin a whole new series of responsibilities: washing, ironing, mending, making a meal. How often do we think, care about, and show love and encouragement to these very special mothers?

To all mothers out there, know you are special, we love you, and do appreciate you.

Your letters Mayor responds to water concerns

Since I have been getting a few calls from concerned citizens, I thought I should provide some additional clarification on a few items that seemed to generate some questions.

1. Didsbury has a sufficient water supply. If someone read only the bold story line from the March 27 newspaper article, they might wrongly assume that there is some sort of potable water supply issue for Didsbury.

That is not the case. Water allocations for the six member communities are based on human needs, or volume per capita (YAD). Because Didsbury does not have a lot of industrial water users, our water use is well below our allotment. Didsbury uses only about 65 per cent of our current water licence allotment, and water licences are in place to supply future population projections and allow for healthy business growth.

2. Water storage is sufficient, too. Didsbury has about 625,000 gallons, or four days supply right on our Butte. In addition to the direct supply pumped directly from the water plant, Didsbury, Carstairs and Crossfield paid for a 1.5 million gallon Mid-Line storage reservoir for our use.

Didsbury is the first town downstream from that facility, with a 16 inch water line from it. Water pressure is maintained as the line becomes proportionately smaller to Carstairs and then smaller yet to Crossfield.

As Didsbury grows, a second storage reservoir will be required east of the tracks to ensure that our internal town distribution and pressure are sufficient in the larger system.

3. Surface water runoff does not go into the sewage lagoons. The caption under the picture of the Rosebud River on March 27 suggests that storm water (which just requires a holding period to allow the sediment to settle out) somehow ends up in our sewage lagoons.

Although illegal residential sump pump connections to the sewer may add to our sewer line volume, surface storm water does not go to our sewage lagoons, and does not get treated as if it were sewage.

4. Water use versus sewage capacity: Didsbury's daily water use averages for May through August 2006 varied from 1,286 to 1,427 cubic meters per day, which is well below our average sewage treatment capacity.

Additional clean surface water being diverted by sump pumps into the sewers in spring is a problem that will need to be addressed. Future regional tertiary (mechanical) sewage treatment system possibilities have been discussed with our neighbours.

5. No repression: council has not made any decision regarding a curfew bylaw, or even whether to consider implementing one. There has been a process of information gathering and consultation that has involved opportunities for citizens to comment, perspectives on curfews and decisions from other towns, and types and provisions of other bylaws. A designated councillor met with the RCMP and the schools to gain their perspectives. Any movement toward drafting a bylaw would also involve input from student leaders. We have been advised that curfew bylaws are more effective if the focus is on the accountability of the parents for their children's whereabouts rather than on the child. The curfew information has not generated much discussion at our meetings with residents.

Our public and Town Hall meetings provide residents an opportunity to tell us what their priorities are, and to provide us with feedback on issues or actions that other municipalities are moving forward with. It is important to council that residents are given ample opportunities to participate. Public input is always welcome.

You are welcome to drop in, or drop off written messages to mayor and council at the Town office, call my direct line at 335-7363 anytime, or email me at mayor@didsbury.ca.

Letter to editor Homeowners supporting the daycare

As a group of concerned individuals in the College Greens Community, we want to make it known that we are in support of a proposed daycare to be set up in the facility that was formerly doctors' offices. There is an urgent need for daycare in Didsbury, and with the growth in population the need will only become greater. We care about children and their parents, many of whom have no choice about the necessity of such care.

Following are quotes from members of our group, several of whom live in close proximity to the proposed daycare:

"It would do us good to look out and see children play."

"We are grandparents who love their children. Why would we not care about other people's children?"

"My grandchildren are in daycare and because their parents both need to work. They are in a facility in a private home and none of their neighbours have ever complained about the children."

"While I appreciate living in a community of seniors, I believe that children would add a dimension to our lives that could be beneficial."

Daycare operates Monday to Friday and is not open on weekends or evenings. The children in the daycare would be outdoors for two hours in the morning and for three hours in the afternoon, taken out in groups that would be supervised at all times. They would be kept in a fenced area. Daycare policy does not allow screaming and aggressive behaviour at any time. A quiet time indoors, after lunch, would be maintained. When they are outdoors, there would be the sounds of children at play. Since our homes in College Greens are well insulated against sound, the effect on our lives would be minimal. A fence would be erected to define the property of the clubhouse in case of any sale. The fence would not obstruct any entrances used by College Green residents.

We take note that since the building is zoned as commercial, any business could apply for this space. The possibilities are very diverse, and could have characteristics that might be disturbing to the atmosphere of a senior association. We also point out, that the appeal by College Green homeowners protesting against the proposed daycare is not based on a duly called meeting, which requires a seven-day notice. And no official vote on how many protest, and how many support the proposed daycare has been taken.

Submitted by a group of concerned College Green homeowners in support of the proposed daycare

Farmers' market in questionable state with few vendors

BY STEPHANIE MYLES
Didsbury Review

Didsbury's farmers' market needs more vendors to survive this summer.

The long-running market is losing some of its major vendors this year. Organizer Laura Krebs said the market needs at least 10 vendors to cover operating costs, and only six have been confirmed so far.

"I've got to make sure I've got enough tables to make it worthwhile doing," said Krebs, who organizes the market for the Didsbury Agricultural Society.

"I had so many vendors that aren't coming, but I've had people phoning from Calgary now and stuff like that, but I've still got to have enough of our local bakers and fresh vegetables and that to have a farmers' market."

Krebs said she still has to confirm some of the market's operating costs, and may have to change venues from the traditional curling rink location.

"I've really got to get it figured out what we're doing, exactly," she said.

Last year, the market opened in May, but Krebs said if she can get the market going this year it won't open until June.

"We started a little early, there was no vegetables ready yet ... and it did not work. The people came and they said, there's nothing here."

Krebs said she's hopeful the market will be able to operate this summer, but it will need public support to be feasible in the future.

"It's a social for the community and it is a way for the farmers and surrounding people to sell their product," she said.

"We need their support, everyone's support, whether it's a vendor or a

The increases include both a market adjustment and a grid increase. There will be another 3.5 per cent grid increase for support staff and tradespeople in September 2008. Additionally, there will be increases to the employer portion of benefits.

Earlier this year, the board approved a one per cent bonus for the current school year (0.5 per cent paid in December 2006 and 0.5 per cent to be paid in June 2007) to help offset market conditions, which the division has seen escalate in the last year.

Parent concerns spark crosswalk changes on 15th

BY STEPHANIE MYLES

Didsbury Review

The town is painting crosswalks and considering moving a stop sign on 15 Avenue to keep children safe when crossing the street near the high school.

The decisions came about after parents raised concerns about crosswalk safety for younger children taking the bus from the high school to and from Ross Ford Elementary.

"It's not safe for kids to cross there," said Billie Turner, whose seven-year-old daughter crosses 15 Avenue at 16 Street every day to catch the bus.

"I have to walk her out there because it's not safe for her to cross that road. People hardly ever stop."

Council decided to increase visibility of the crosswalks on 15 Avenue and investigate moving the stop sign at Walter Place to 16 Avenue, instead of adding a second stop sign on the block.

The town needs approval from Chinook's Edge School Division to remove the Walter Place stop sign.

The improvements can't come fast enough for Turner.

"I don't think that painting it is enough," she said. "There needs to be something drawing more attention to the fact that this is a crosswalk."

Kim Dick/Didsbury Review

CROSSWALK QUANDARY — Andrew Peterson, 16, heads across the busy intersection at 16 St. and 15 Ave. early Monday morning. Town council is considering moving a stop sign to the intersection due to parental concerns regarding the busy crosswalk.

"I have to walk her out there because it's not safe for her to cross that road. People hardly ever stop."

concerned parent

Turner said she wants to see a stop sign or, at the very least, a crosswalk sign at the 15 Avenue and 16 Street intersection.

Town council decided against adding another stop sign at the intersection based on a recommendation from the town's planning and protective services committee. The two stop signs would be about a block apart.

"The committee's recommendation was not to put up two stop signs," said Mayor Dorothy Moore.

"The idea from residents was to slow down traffic (on 15 Avenue) and one stop sign, I think does that."

Coun. Ernie Ryckman said he thinks it's a good idea to put two stop signs on 15 Avenue in the interest of child safety.

"I think the simplest solution is a painted walk and a stop sign," he said. "Put two in a row. It slows traffic down."

Moore said there is currently no stop sign at 16

Avenue because when the high school first opened, elementary school children weren't catching the bus there.

"It was not expected that they would have the volume of little kids taking the bus there," she said, adding that now she thinks a stop sign is necessary.

Area zoo opens

BY MARK LAYCOCK
For the Review

Saturday's sunny break gave visitors at the Innisfail Discovery Wildlife Park the opportunity to observe a wide variety of exotic animals.

Not allowing last week's wet weather to continue dampening their spirit, animals took advantage of the clear skies to bask in the sun while eager onlookers got a unique glimpse of nature.

The zoo's owner, Doug Bos, is pleased with the park's progress and is confident visitors will be arrival of a baby reindeer, and a soon to be finished timber wolf exhibit will be opening.

"There hasn't been a year go by where we don't have any orphans come in," explained Bos.

Bos encourages visitors to stop by to watch various animal shows and get a bit closer to nature.

Sons of Norway news

The April meeting was our annual initiation night and was very well attended.

President Barb Olsen conducted the ceremony and we were happy to welcome new members Bert (Bertha) Johnson, Linda Nielson and Renee Pederson. Renee is a third generation member for our group. Barb presented the three new members with Sons of Norway lapel pins and copies of the Charter and Constitution.

Reports were given in regard to our bowling and whist day and the Spring Fling.

On our bowling day 12 people joined us from Calgary Lodge and ten came from Red Deer. It was a successful day with prizes awarded for highs, lows and random selects. All of our participating kids were given awards.

The Spring Fling was also successful and those who attended enjoyed great old time music and a generous supper featuring smorrebrod, (open face sandwiches).

Culture reports that Rosemarie classes are in progress and students can feel free to bring something they wish to finish or plan to start something new. Call Olga Tarning for details as to time and place.

Classes are open to non members. Sunshine reports that Mary and Louis Lund are back in Sundre, Mary is in Sundre Hospital and Louis is back at the Lodge. They would both welcome visitors.

On April 5, Edie Bennett, Inga Norrrre, Mel Olsen and Louise Kobbestad helped with Bingo at Mountain View Lodge and on April 28 Mel and Barb Olsen plan to help with "Clean Up for Olds."

We are told that there are still places available at Trollhaugen Camp and that our lodge is slated to assist this year and host next year.

This seems a daunting task but we are assured that the paid staff will make it much simpler than the last time we were in charge. Moved by John Kamp and seconded by Ralph Olson that we accept the challenge. Members that are willing to go for the week or on a day basis will sign up at a forthcoming meeting. Linda Nielson is on Trollhaugen Board and will be at camp anyway, she will also serve as our email contact between Trollhaugen Board and the Lodge.

Some of us attended the Volunteer Appreciation Tea at Chinook Winds on April 30. The Syttende Mai celebration will be held at Our Flames Restaurant on May 20 at 5 p.m. An informal meeting will be held then.

Taylor Processing Inc. (Taylor) has applied pursuant to Part 4 of the Pipeline Act for approval to construct and operate two natural gas pipelines and one high vapour pressure (HVP) pipeline. (TCPL) Western Alberta System at Legal Subdivision (LSD) 1 of Section 23, Township 31, Range 5, West of the 5th Meridian to a tie-in point at Taylor's existing Harmattan-Elkton sulphur recovery facility at LSD 15-27-31-4W5M for the purpose of natural gas liquids recovery. The proposed pipeline would have an outside diameter of 610 millimetres (mm) and would be about 8.4 kilometres (km) in length. The second proposed natural gas pipeline would transport the residue gas containing no H_2S from the Harmattan-Elkton sulphur recovery facility back to the TCPL sales system south of the Inter Pipeline Cochrane Extraction Plant at LSD 9-16-26-4W5M. The proposed pipeline would have an outside diameter of 610 mm and would be about 67.40 km in length. The proposed HVP pipeline would transport recovered liquids from the Harmattan-Elkton sulphur recovery facility to Taylor's existing Didsbury Loading Terminal at LSD 2-25-31-2W5M. The proposed pipeline would have an outside diameter of 168.3 mm, would be about 23.40 km in length, and would have an emergency planning zone of about 800 metres.

Taylor has applied to add two 2240-kilowatt and one 6340-kilowatt compressors to the existing facility. The facility is designed to process 13,897.60 thousand cubic metres ($10^3 m^3$) per day of natural gas containing a maximum H_2S concentration of 4.5 mol/kmol (0.450 per cent), from which 11,274.3 $10^3 m^3$ per day of sales gas, 3,971.4 cubic metres per day (m^3/d) of ethane (C_2), 1795.1 m^3/d of propane (C_3), 987.6 m^3/d of butane (C_4) and 1,118.4 m^3/d of pentanes plus (C_5+) are recovered. The facility is designed to recover about 81.30 tonnes per day of sulphur equivalent. The facility is located approximately 27 km west of Didsbury and 15 km north of Cremona.

FORWARD EXPLORER — Back from his second trip to Europe, Jason Edwards plays for the Canadian Explorers AAA national team. He has played games in Germany, the Czech Republic, Switzerland and Austria and hopes to someday play in the NHL.

BY STEPHANIE
MYLES
Didsbury Review

At the age of 14, Jason Edwards has already had the chance to play world-class hockey on an international stage — twice.

The Didsbury teen recently returned from his second European hockey trip in as many years. As part of the Canadian Explorers AAA national team, he spent two weeks playing hockey in Germany, the Czech Republic, Switzerland and Austria.

With a busy schedule of 19 games in 14 days, the Canadian team managed to bring home two gold medals in Swiss and Czech tournaments, and a bronze at the World Tournament in Austria.

For Jason, it was a different kind of hockey. The Canadian team played shorthanded much of the time, something Jason's mom, Judy, said probably kept them from winning gold at the World Tournament.

"In Canada you can go all out and hit 'em, but in Europe you can't. It was strict," said Jason. "I didn't like it too much."

But the Europeans' different style of play also helped him sharpen his skills.

"It's a lot faster over there so you have to keep up," he said. "I probably got faster."

Jason's journey began over two years ago, when he was first scouted for Canada's national pee wee team. He made the team and travelled to Europe then, bringing back only fond memories, as his mother puts it.

"In Canada you can go all out and hit 'em, but in Europe you can't. It was strict."

JASON EDWARDS
hockey player

It's not surprising the young forward has achieved such success at this age. Hockey runs in the family — his grandfather is Miller McCoy, a star player on the much-celebrated Didsbury Senior Ramblers team of late. Jason got his start playing minor hockey in Didsbury, then moved to the Airdrie Pee Wee AA team two years ago and the Bantam team this year. He hopes to make the AAA Bantam team next season and one day make it to the NHL.

The high level of hockey and large crowds at the European tournaments should prepare Jason for his NHL dream.

"The Canadian kids are the favourite over there," said Judy. "As the other teams get beat out and you move into the playoffs, they start coming with their banners and their sound makers and their jerseys for you."

But Jason, humble and quiet, said he wasn't distracted by the fans.

"I didn't really pay attention to the crowd," he said.

Although Jason said he was tired and ready to come home by the end of the two weeks, he'd go back and do it again. And his mother emphasized that the trip provided a great learning experience.

"We were playing the national teams and got a lot of really good hockey out of it," said Judy.

"It's been a character builder for him."

Age of consent law good move: MP

BY DAN SINGLETON
For the Review

Wild Rose MP Myron Thompson says a decade of effort in the House of Commons has finally paid off with the passing of a new law that raises the age of sexual consent from 14 to 16 years of age.

Passed with the support of all parties last week, the law now goes to the Senate for expected approval, perhaps this summer.

The law imposes new jail term penalties for persons in violation of its provisions. The legislation includes an exemption for young people within five years of age.

Speaking in the House of Commons on Bill C-22 on Thursday, Thompson said the change will help parents who in the past have been unable to intervene on behalf of their children.

"There's no way a 40-year-old man should have the right to have sex and live with a 14-year-old girl just because she gave her consent," said

Thompson. "It will stop exploitation of our young kids. Exploitation is already illegal, but it's going to be dreadful if you go after 14 or 15-year-olds. They will face severe penalties, stiffer than we have ever seen."

Thompson said he personally was opposed to the exception, "but if we can just get that age raised, I'll be satisfied."

Meanwhile, Thompson was one of 14 people to receive an award from the Kids Internet Safety

"There's no way a 40-year-old man should have the right to have sex and live with a 14-year-old girl."

Wild Rose MP

Alliance during a ceremony in Toronto last week.

The Hero of the Fight award was presented to two MPs, as well as police officers, judges, investigators and others for their efforts in fighting child luring and exploitation through the internet over the past number of years.

"I felt very honoured to receive it," said Thompson.

On Thursday Justice Minister Rob Nicholson paid tribute to MP Thompson and MP Art Hanger in the House of Commons for their work on raising the age of consent.

"For the last 14 years they have been championing the cause against sexual predators in our country," said Nicholson. "When they approached the previous government, for 13 years all they got was some sympathy, but no action. I am very proud to be part of a government that, when it come to protecting children against adult sexual predators, actually gets the job done."

During the debate on Bill C-22 last Thursday, Liberal MP Sukh Dhaliwal said the Conservatives could have acted months earlier to bring in the change, which was supported by all parties.

Water Valley's Nugent places at Kananaskis

BY BARRY WILLIAMS
For the Review

It has been 17 long years since Water Valley's Randa Nugent has claimed a ladies barrel racing championship at a Canadian Professional Rodeo Association sanctioned event.

As the CPRA closed its first month of 2007 competition at the Kananaskis Pro Rodeo held in Coleman at the end of April, Randa shared the podium with her husband, Mark Nugent.

In the ladies barrel racing, Randa was the quickest cowgirl blazing the cloverleaf pattern in 13.27 seconds. Her win was dominant as the nearest rival to her was Janet Moen of, Stewart Valley, Sask. who, finished the course in 13.45 seconds. Placing third was Crystal Shaw of Daysland, Alta. finishing with a time of 13.48 seconds.

For her efforts, Nugent won $1,624 while Moen claimed $1,392.

With the win at Coleman Randa has increased her CPRA 2007 earnings to $1,800 and has appeared in four rodeos to date. Last year she trekked to 47 rodeos collecting $5,156.

Her husband, Mark, claimed $1,052 for a second place finish in tie-down roping with a respectable time of 8.6 seconds. Nugent is a past Canadian tie-down roping champion and was named the Professional Rodeo Cowboys' Association rookie of the year in 1997. Logan Hoffer of Magrath was the top roper tying his critter in 8.4 seconds worth $1,308.

A year ago, the Nugents placed at a rodeo held at Falkland, B.C.

Although the Coleman rodeo is held in the early spring, the leaves were budding as Marwayne, Alta. saddle bronc rider, Justin Berg, spurred out an 81 aboard Kesler Championship Rodeo's Three Leaves earning $1,228. A cheque worth $1,153 was waiting for Justin Tees for an 80 point ride.

Penhold bull rider, Matt Shaw strolled up to the pay window for the first time this year to collect $1,203 for an 83 point ride on Kesler's Championship Rodeo's Coast to Coast. With an 80.5 point ride, Jory Vine of Strathmore won $1,024, good for a second place finish in the bull riding event.

A Cochrane raised cowboy, Jeremy Harden, now living in Big Valley, pinned his steer in a sensational 4.1 seconds to walk away with the steer wrestling championship honours. For his efforts, Harden pocketed $1,649. Splitting second with recorded times of 4.4 seconds were Straws Milan and Tony Maclean. Each bulldogger earned $1,218 apiece.

Brian Larson teamed up with Casey Weerstra to capture the team roping with a time of 5.5 seconds, good enough for $2,074 apiece. Posting the second fastest time of 6.1 were the tandem of Marty Becker and Shane Schenke. Sundre roper Todd Gallais and his partner Blair Stroh finished third in a time of 6.2 seconds collecting $1,359 apiece.

Brooks saddle bronc rider, Dustin

Thompson currently leads the CPRA standings with earnings of $8,405. Meanwhile, the top Canadian bareback rider is Ross Halliday of, Hanna with $8,309. Defending Canadian bull riding champion, Justin Volz leads the Canadian standings with earnings of $8,369. In the timed events, Marty Becker, with winnings of $6,788 is the top tie-down roper with Brooks Butterfield being the best bulldogger with earnings encompassing $9,000.

In the following two weeks, the rodeo hands will be heading west across the mountains to participate in scheduled rodeos at Princeton, B.C., Cloverdale B.C., Falkland, B.C. and Luxton, B.C.

At the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association's general meeting held in Calgary in February the following were elected by acclamation:

Stock Contractor representative - Duane Kesler.

Bareback representative - Davey Shields, Jr.

Saddle bronc representative - Rod Hay.

Tie-down roping representative - Bruce H. Robinson.

Team roping representative - Rocky Dallyn.

180. Thank You

The Mountain View Community Hall board members would like to thank all those who attended our Grand Re-Opening on April 21 and Choirliers concert on April 29th. Without your generous donations and support we would not have had such a great success. We would like to thank the Choirliers for doing their benefit concert and Annessa Good for playing fiddle. We look forward to seeing you at our next function.
